With the Le Gruyere European Curling Championships only a week or so away, the final preparations are well underway at Curl Aberdeen and the Linx Arena. The Le Gruyere European Curling Championships will host over 50 teams from 30 nations from the 5th -12th December 2009.

Bob Cowan has created an “Event Blog” for the Le Gruyere European Curling Championships which will display photos from both the A and B events, along with most of the news from the events. The “Event Blog” can be viewed by clicking here or visiting www.ecc2009blog.blogspot.com/

The blog currently shows the work being carried out at the Linx Arena along with a post about the Local Organising Committee who has been working hard in preparation for the Championships.

The official website for the 2009 Le Gruyere European Championship can be found here or by visiting www.ecc2009.co.uk

On this website you can find out all about ticket sales, media information and event draws.
